

The

WEEK

By A. M. BRAYTON

THIS week the eyes of the world are turned upon Germany where 55,000 French troops have occupied the rich Ruhr mining and industrial district, under what France claims to be rights established by the treaty of Versailles. This claim is denied by Germany, which insists that intrusion is a violation of the treaty.

The occupation was accomplished without violence, an attitude of submission alone marking the German reception.

Following a senate resolution, American troops in the Ruhr, 1,000 in number, were ordered to return home. They will sail shortly. British troops in the district, placed there by treaty arrangements, will remain pending further developments.

In the American senate agitation for the withdrawal of American observers at the reparations conference has taken place.

The United States, it is said, will make no further moves at the present time. America has offered to call an international conference of experts to study the reparations problem with a view to reaching some practical solution. Legation approved France, which had other plans, ignored the proposal.

French military authority in the Ruhr began its work by attempting to direct further coal deliveries. Stinson and other industrial leaders failed to attend a meeting called by the French leaders, but some sent representatives. Officials of the German coal syndicate, which controls the mines, had removed from the occupied zone.

Trouble may impend over the coal situation. Germany refuses to continue even such coal deliveries as were being made. France will have to take the coal. Notice has been served that neither the German government nor the German mining industry will pay wages to miners digging coal under French authority. The French government will not pay them.

Perhaps a brief review of the reparations matter to date may be useful. Following is a summary:

The Versailles treaty did not fix the amount of the German indemnity, but left the matter open for further discussion.

The reparations commission, at London, in April, 1921 placed the whole indemnity at 132,000,000,000 gold marks. Austria's and Hungary's share, however, must be subtracted, say 12,000,000,000, leaving for Germany 120,000,000,000 gold marks.

This sum was divided into two parts: 50,000,000,000 to be paid in 36 years, and the balance at an indefinite future time when Germany was able to pay.

At the Paris conference, on January 2, the British proposed a plan for making the whole indemnity from Germany 50,000,000,000 gold marks, to be reduced by prompt payment of 10,000,000,000 gold marks, and 40,000,000,000 gold marks, without reductions, but only on condition that France's war debt to Great Britain be proportionately reduced and also on condition that the allies demand production guarantees and occupation of the Ruhr if Germany defaults.

The forcing deals with cash payments. There are also to be made "payments in kind," which means the restoration to France of things destroyed or lost by reason of the war, including such things as coal deliveries.

In order to appreciate the French attitude, it is necessary to remember that under the treaty Germany was to restore the devastated districts of France. France has gone on with restoration with prodigious success, having attained something like 90 per cent completion. But for this completion France has paid the bulk of the expense. German collections added, though having amounted to only about 20 per cent of the total.

England both the Lloyd George and Bonar Law groups agree with the German view that French invasion or only will not increase reparations, but will paralyze German industry and hasten financial collapse. The reason assigned is that the Ruhr mines and the industries form the basis of Germany's means to pay, and without them she can not "carry on."

The French view has been that Germany has been shamming and could pay. It is known that the wealthy German industries have been refusing to pay taxes. French opinion has been to the effect that rather than see their industries actually seized, Stinson and other big business leaders would "scratch gravel" and make more substantial payments.

Thus far American and British opinion seems to be justified by events. As a whole the German attitude is to let the French make the most of their new bargain. The tendency is for all Germany to go on strike against the occupation.

Nor are the governments of foreign powers alone in the conclusions that the French move invites a European disaster which may spread to the world. Other close and keenly interested observers agree. These are the Red organizations of Europe. Contemporaneously with occupation of the Ruhr the world revolution of the

LONG WILL LEAVE NORMAL FACULTY TO HEAD COLLEGE

Resignation of Professor Sent to President Cotton; to Take Effect April 6

LEAVES FOR PRESIDENCY OF TRI-STATE COLLEGE, INDIANA

Has Unusually Brilliant and Envyable Record While Here

THE La Crosse State Normal school and the state of Wisconsin will lose one of its most prominent and influential educators, when Professor Ernest L. Long, head of the department of education of the Normal school, renders his resignation to President Cotton, to take effect April 6, 1923. Professor Long has accepted the presidency of the Tri-State college, located at Angola, Ind.

One of Original Faculty

Prof. Long has made an unusually brilliant and enviable record while he has been connected with the La Crosse Normal. He was one of the original faculty of seven men, who came to La Crosse when it was founded, and therefore responsible in a large way for the unusual progress that the school has made. Professor Long is a progressive type of man, and is the author of many progressive movements for the good of education. He was a friend of the students and his sound advice and kindly ways will be sorely missed when he leaves at the end of the third quarter.

He is a successful teacher and educator and his place will be hard to fill. His many friends of the school and community give their best wishes for his continued success and happiness, and feel that the people of the Angola are fortunate in securing such an able educator and friend as Professor Long.

Professor Long's letter of resignation reads as follows:

"Having been elected president of the Tri-State college, Angola, Ind., I hereby resign my position in the La Crosse Normal school.

"If it could be so arranged I should like to be released at the end of the third quarter, Friday, April 6, 1923. Conditions make it desirable that I assume my duties there at that time."

Cotton Regrets Departure

President Cotton answers as follows:

"I accept your resignation only because you have insisted that I do so. I am sorry that you are so soon to sever your relations with this school. You have been here since it was organized, and are therefore, responsible in a large way for the unusual progress the school has made."

President Cotton when interviewed regarding the letter of resignation, said: "Mr. Long has been one of the best men I have ever been associated with. He is a scholarly man and a very successful teacher. He will be greatly missed and his place will be hard to fill."

LA CROSSE BOY HERE ON BRIEF VACATION TELLS OF THE WORK

Sails Next Saturday for Russia for American Relief Administration

LONDON.—By the Associated Press.—It has practically been decided to withdraw the American relief administration from Russia by the next harvest unless some unforeseen development occurs in the famine situation. It was stated Saturday by Col. William N. Haskell, director of American relief in Russia, Col. Haskell is on his way to Athens to assume the directorship of the special emergency relief for the Anatolian refugees instituted by the American Red Cross. He will go to Lausanne early next week to confer with Rear Admiral Bristol and others conversant with the near eastern situation. Some of the London newspapers declare a persistent rumor is prevalent that Col. Haskell is going to Athens to settle differences between the Red Cross and the Near East Relief which were alleged to have arisen since the Smyrna disaster, but Col. Haskell professed ignorance of any friction between these two organizations.

HOME FROM THREE YEARS OF GLOBE TROTTLING FOR A BRIEF VISIT BEFORE SAILING FOR RUSSIA ON JANUARY 23, STEPHEN MARTINDALE, JR., SON OF MR. AND MRS. STEPHEN MARTINDALE, 207 SOUTH TENTH STREET, TOLD A TRIBUNE REPORTER SATURDAY AFTERNOON HOW THE AMERICAN RELIEF ADMINISTRATION, WITH WHICH HE IS CONNECTED, SAVED THE LIVES OF 10,000,000 PEOPLE IN RUSSIA LAST YEAR AND WILL SAVE THE LIVES OF SEVERAL MILLION MORE THIS YEAR.

Mr. Martindale has been connected with the American Relief Administration for three years, since getting out of the service at the close of the world war. He started in the New York office of the administration and then went to Europe. For the past year and three months he has been in the London office. Now he is going to Russia for six months to assist in supervising the feeding of millions of hungry Russians. He will have headquarters in Moscow but expects to travel all over Russia. His passport grants him permission to travel in all the countries of Europe on this trip.

HOOPER STILL AT HEAD

"The American Relief Administration is the organization which Herbert E. Hoover formed and which he still directs," said Mr. Martindale, when asked to tell of his work. "Despite his other duties, Mr. Hoover still travels up to New York periodically to the headquarters of the American Relief Administration to direct the European relief work, and he is in intimate touch with all activities of the organization at all times. He is a wonderful chief and has a capacity for work which is nothing short of marvelous."

FIVE LIVES LOST. SEAPLANE WRECKED OFF HAVANA COAST

New Yorker, His Two Children, and Nurse Among the Dead

MIAMI, Fla.—Five lives were lost when the flying boat Columbus, flying from Key West to Havana, fell and sank twenty miles off Havana, late Saturday, according to word received here Saturday night.

KEY WEST, Fla.—By The Associated Press.—A radio message received here Saturday night from the captain of the ferry ship Henry M. Flagler, plying between Key West and Havana, confirmed earlier reports that E. F. Atkins, Jr., and two children, of New York, and Miss Grace McDonald, governess for the Atkins family, and Mechanician Harold Thompson, were lost when the seaplane Columbus crashed to the water and sank near Havana Saturday afternoon.

The Flagler has the survivors aboard bringing them to this city.

Walter Campbell Says Kin Was Member of Band That Later Kidnapped Daniel

FARMER TESTIFIES TO KLAN ORDERING HIM TO LEAVE PLACE

Marinette, Wis., Editor Gets Threatening Note from K. K. K.

BASTROP, La.—By The Associated Press.—Testimony of three witnesses—one naming his brother as having been recognized as a member of a black hooded kidnapping band, another seized and lectured by the "black hoods," and the third telling of his anxiety to leave the community because of Ku Klux Klan activities—were the substance of plans for a conference between A. V. Coco, state attorney general, and Captain J. K. Skipwith, Klan leader, furnished Saturday's thrills in the state's investigation of masked band depredations in Morehouse parish.

Fred Cobb, who hails from Texas, where, he says, "men fight square," told of being seized by five hooded men, one of whom he declared was Laurie Calhoun, named by other witnesses as a Klansman. Cobb said he was taken to a woods and given a lecture by the men, who accused him of misconduct.

Names His Brother

Walter Campbell, town marshal and superintendent of the light and water plant of Mer Rouge, named his brother, A. D. Campbell, as having been recognized by Thomas F. Richards, kidnapped and slain with Watt Daniel, August 24, last, as having been a member of a black hooded kidnapping party which stalked the roads about Bastrop a week previous to the disappearance of Richards.

Leon Braddock added pathos and a dramatic scene to the day's proceedings. Braddock, a farmer, who said he has lived all his life in this section and by "the great of my brow" have secured a home, a farm of eighty acres, seven mules and an automobile. He told of his anxiety to sell his property at a reasonable price and leave to seek more peaceful fields for himself and his wife and four children due to a raid made on his home by unmasked men, led by Captain Skipwith, who accused him of making liquor.

Just as state's Attorneys were about to name the hour for the conference requested by Captain Skipwith to discuss Ku Klux Klan affairs, the Klan leader announced this afternoon to the Associated Press that as far as he was concerned, there would be no conference.

Blames State

Captain Skipwith said that the withdrawing of his request for the interview with Attorney General Coco was due to state's attorneys placing witnesses on the stand to dig into the activities of the Klan. "If they care to go about it in this manner, I can see no good to be derived from a conference with Mr. Coco," said Captain Skipwith, known as the exalted cyclops of the Morehouse Klan.

Attorney General Coco expressed surprise at the Klan leader's withdrawal.

Preceding Campbell, Braddock and Cobb on the stand was A. L. Smith, whose declaration "I am a Klansman and proud of it," brought forth a round of vigorous applause from the spectators who were subsequently warned by the court to refrain from any further outburst.

With tears in his eyes, Leon Braddock told of after living in this community all of his life, he believed that

HUGHES PLAN STILL ALIVE IN U. S. VIEW

Unofficial Intimation from Paris Suggests That France May Be Willing To Talk It Over

FRANCO-GERMAN COAL DEAL EXPECTED TO LESSEN TENSION

Uncle Sam Declared Willing to Join Any Conference Purely Economic

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Unofficial intimations from Paris that the Poincare ministry is considering a call for a new reparations conference created wide interest in government circles here, although it was said that no hint of such a development was given in state department advices.

The Paris dispatches referring to the possibility of a conference came on the heels of an authoritative disclosure here that administration officials view the Hughes commission suggestion as still alive and before the French and other allied governments.

Only Economically Interested

Whether unofficial talk in Paris points to a possible resort to the principle advanced by Mr. Hughes is not known. It is generally assumed, however, in view of tone of Saturday's replies from the Ruhr as to the difficulties surrounding the task before the French technical forces there, that economics rather than politics must be the basis of any new conference approach to the crisis. That would be wholly in line with the Hughes suggestion.

It goes without saying that the nature and scope of any future step to restore allied solidarity as to the course to be followed with respect to Germany depends almost entirely on the turn of events in the Ruhr region. This has been emphasized in all reports reaching the Washington government from its own agents abroad.

Tension Slackens?

There can be no question that fears of the gravest nature have been entertained both here and in London that violent disorders might accompany the French occupation. As time passes without such complications, coupled with action of the reparations commission in extending the moratorium to the end of the month and the Franco-German agreement reported from Essen for resumption of coal deliveries, presumably international tension is lessening in a way to foster hope for a new understanding among the powers.

Should France determine to call an allied conference and, as suggested from Paris, invite American participation, interest will center in the American attitude. In advance of such an invitation, it can only be reiterated that the administration has steadily refused to become involved in any discussion of a political nature relative to European conditions, but has strongly supported on many occasions the idea of exchanges of views by international experts in economic matters.

U. S. Entry Not Certain

Decision of the Washington government as to participation in the Brussels economic conference, projected before the break up of the premier's council in Paris, was never made, because no invitation ever was extended. It can be said, however, that there was a strong inclination here to join in the conference provided it was held strictly to economic matters. If another conference proposal emerges from the present crisis, presumably the American attitude would be determined by the scope and purpose of the meeting.

The French advance is characterized as an act of war.

BOYDEN'S REMARKS ON THE VERSAILLES TREATY GIVEN OUT

Remarks of American Observer Made Public Following Much Comment

PARIS.—By The Associated Press.—The declaration of Roland W. Boyden, American observer, before the reparations commission last Tuesday, that the Versailles treaty conditions for Germany were "impossible," aroused such comment that the commission at the request of the American representative made public his remarks.

Mr. Boyden's words were spoken at the meeting that declared that Germany had defaulted in her coal deliveries.

Mr. Boyden began by explaining that he was speaking on his personal responsibility. He said that legally Germany was in default because she was cognizant of the shortage month by month. Germany's excuse that she had imported coal in order to replace what was sent to France, could be employed, he said, to show that the commission had demanded too much, but it had nothing to do with Germany's obligation to carry out the decision so long as it remained unchanged.

Mr. Boyden particularly criticized the decision of the commission declaring Germany in default on her wood deliveries because the commission was the tribunal that decided as to guilt, while the governments executed sentence. Therefore, the commission should have set forth the causes of the default, all of the extenuating circumstances so that the punishment could fit the crime.

STORM ON JERSEY COAST PUTS STOP TO LIQUOR RUNNERS

Shore That Teemed With Men Hauling Away Liquor Landed by Boats Desolate Saturday

NEW YORK.—By The Associated Press.—The stretch of angry seas between the shore and the anchorage was desolate tonight—a sombre course compared to the running ground it had been for the two preceding nights and days when smaller craft swarmed about the big ships, fitting to and from shore with alcoholic cargoes.

Desolate too, was the water front, that a night before had echoed to the tread of strange men carting liquor to heavy automobile trucks, touring cars and wagons. The little ports that dot the coast, all in hubbub since the big fleet arrived, were dark and empty.

Whether the smuggling will be continued openly when the squall subsides was speculated upon Saturday night at the coast frescoes. There was news of a dry navy blockade to halt the traffic, but the fleet of two steamers and six two-masted schooners off Ambrose Lightship and four two-masted schooners off Asbury Park, spelled "hope" to the rum runners.

Meanwhile, A. E. C. Hoyer, federal prohibition director for New York state, announced that he had been informed by William B. Moss, who holds the same position in New Jersey, that a personal investigation covering a night and day had convinced him that descriptions of the rum running activities carried in the Associated Press dispatches were without foundation.

Mr. Moss announced he would ask the United States district attorney at Newark to call before a special grand jury persons responsible for the dispatches.

STRONG BACKING IS VOTED IN SESSION STEEPED IN GLOOM

Fear French Reaction to German Claim That Ruhr Invasion Destroys Treaty Pledge

INTERNAL SITUATION HELD TO BE FULL OF DANGERS

Berlin Takes No Hand in Coal Dicker With French

BERLIN.—By The Associated Press.—By an overwhelming vote of 283 to 13, the reichstag Saturday registered its approval of the government's attitude towards the Franco-Belgian invasion of the Ruhr. The situation growing out of the presence of armed French forces in parts of Germany previously unoccupied, is considered a very serious one, and nothing is suggested as to what line of her action is at the government's disposal.

Situation Held Dangerous

The feeling in political circles in this connection was reflected on an expression by a well-known democratic leader who said Saturday night: "Germany has arrived at the entrance to a dark, a very dark, tunnel." He referred not only to possible reactions from Paris to the German official attitude, the German government considering the treaty of Versailles abrogated, but also was of the opinion that the internal situation was fraught with grave danger.

Since the coal syndicate eliminated itself from the further control of the Ruhr mines, output, the independent owners and operators have tacitly agreed to supply France and Belgium against cash payments, as they are no longer able to hold Germany financially accountable for their deliveries. Official quarters are not intervening in this situation, inasmuch as it was not certain in Berlin that the French would enter into such an agreement.

Just now the government is giving serious consideration to the adoption of emergency economic measures calculated to meet the sudden turn in the situation throughout Germany, without anticipating diplomatic and foreign economic ramifications, which may become urgent issues at an early date.

Gloom in Reichstag

Today's session of the reichstag took on an aspect of pronounced gloom as the chancellor's statement failed to strike the inspiring note which the deputies and crowded galleries expected. Chancellor Cuno liberally amplified his previous presentation of the legal aspects of the Ruhr invasion and its relation to the treaty. The party leaders who followed him also failed to lift the debate out of the atmosphere of the perfumery.

Chancellor Cuno detailed the various German attempts to provide an acceptable solution of the reparations question, all of which were rejected, as was the political pact intended to revive the political situation from the path of a purely economic settlement. "Our proposals," he said, "were of the same complexion as those emanating from entente circles."

"There was room for negotiations," he said, "but the French would not make them. They were not of one degree but were radical and absolute, namely the difference between imperialism and economic modes of thought."

Says Promises Have Been Kept

After recounting the payments Germany had made, Herr Cuno heatedly inquired how Poincare dared to speak of promises which had not been kept. Germany, he asserted, would not hold herself in any way responsible for the French action in the Ruhr and much less help France, who had remained true, he said, to her obligations to the last four hundred years to ruin Germany. It started with Louis XIV, declared the chancellor, then was taken up by Napoleon and was apparent now on the present occasion.

"We do not appeal to the world," the chancellor said in conclusion, "because it is useless. We stand alone."

"As long as the present situation lasts, Germany will not be in a position to carry out her obligations to the powers who brought about the situation," he said. "Outwardly we can offer but little opposition to this act of violence, but inwardly we can do more, namely, by a display of will and determination."

"German Nation Stirred"

"The German nation is manifestly stirred. The depth of its emotion may not be fully realized, because the nation is accustomed to carrying its burden with unvarying patience. Not one among us but shares this feeling."

Herr Cuno urged the necessity for vigilant prudence and self-restraint, lack of which would bring most disastrous consequences for the community. He appealed to all Germans to stand together during the coming distressful days.

"Injustice, misery and deprivation are our fate today," he exclaimed.

"RADIO BOOTS" ARE NOW LAST GLAD WORD IN MILADY'S WEAR

New Article Wins Favor as Cold Weather and Snow Drifts Nip Silk Clad Ankles

The La Crosse flapper, who just about lost her name with the change of styles, is about to lose the last evidence of "flapping" with the change of season.

The flapping goloshes of yesterday, that resolutely defied snow, slush and the mirth which their appearance provoked on Main street, are not being worn by the long skirted, or short skirted as the case may be, flapper this winter. "Radio boots" are the last word in out-of-door footwear, according to "Bill" Adams, shoe man. And they have won much favor with La Crosse girls as the cold breezes tend silk clad ankles into retirement. The new boots are of rubber, mostly, close fitting and without buckles. They come in "shoe top length"—or where the tops of high shoes should be if any were worn. And just around their upper extremity they wear a cuff band of black or gray astrakhan fur. The seven league boots of romance were not more dashing than this latest fancy in glorified "rubbers."

"And you tell them another thing," said Mr. Adams, "this changing styles and names of footwear is enough to make a fellow want to hire a secretary to trail around after him with a list of the names at his finger tips so it can be referred to every time you write an ad. First they started out in life as 'goloshes.' Somebody didn't like that so they called them 'aroses' and then had a couple of buckles in front. That was all right for a time. Then they put the buckles in the back. Then they still called them 'Arctics.' The next move was to wear them up, buckled, as they did last year. Now, they are making 'em out of rubber and the same material as the old goloshes, but they call them 'radio boots.' At the start of this season they were 'Moscow cuff boots,' because they had a band of astrakhan (or it is astrakhan) at the tops, imitations of the full sized Russian boots. Wonder what their next name will look and sound like?"

BERLIN—Forty-five miners were trapped on Thursday by the explosion of a gasoline engine in a coal mine near Hindenburg, Upper Silesia. It is feared they all have perished.

CLAM BEDS IN UPPER RIVER ARE TO BE RESTORED INSIDE OF THREE YEARS SAYS EXPERT

La Crosse pearl button manufacturers and others along the river are awaiting with keen interest the outcome of the government's experiment in restoring depleted clam beds along the river. In La Crosse a few days ago Harry L. Canfield, biased propagation expert of the bureau of fisheries, announced that the work had passed the experimental stage and the supply of mussels in the upper river would be conserved as long as there were fish in the stream to inoculate with the eggs of the mussel.

Growing buttons, pearls and chicken feed on fish is a new enterprise of the government. A tubful of fishes, a handful of minute clams scattered over them, twenty minutes for the clams to take root in the fish, then throw the fish back into the river.

That's the way crews on the Mississippi along Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota have been breeding buttons, pearls and chicken feed all summer and fall. A pair of a trillion clams have been seeded (140,000,000,000 to be exact), says Mr. Canfield. Thousands of tubfuls of fish have been treated, and millions of fish have been swimming around since, with the clams rooted in their gills, and growing plump and lively without inconveniencing the fish a bit.

Clam Is Parasite

Three years from now, barring ill luck, these infinitesimal clams will be fully grown mussels, ready to be shut up (like a clam) on the clam fishers' hooks, yield lustrious pearls, and provide the pearl button manufacturer shells for buttons, and shell remnants to grind up for chicken feed.

Some years ago the discovery was made that the fresh water clam is a parasite upon fish, at an early period in its existence. Eggs of the river mussel after fertilization, are carried in a pouch in the gills of the female. There they develop into microscopic creatures called glochidia. There are great numbers of these glochidia. When ripe they leave the brood chamber and sink down to the bottom of the river. They are without power of locomotion, and the helpless and finally perish in the mud unless help comes along in the shape of a fish. If some member of the finny tribe chances to swim near enough, the glochidium stands a chance of being carried to its gills in the water which the fish breathes in. Should this happen, he catches in the flesh of the gill and remains there as a parasite for a couple of weeks or sometimes even two or three months. During this parasite period the glochidium develops into a clam. When metamorphosis is complete the baby clam frees itself from the fish, and once more drops down to the river bottom, this time, a fully formed mussel.

How it is Done

The bureau of fisheries found it possible to breed clams artificially by taking the egg sac from the female clam and putting the eggs in tubs of water in which fish had been placed.

Work of this nature has been done at the Fairport, Ia., biological station for several years. This season, however, infecting fish with clams has been undertaken for the first time on a big scale, not at the station but out on the river where the United States bureau of fisheries has crews at work seining fish from landlocked ponds and putting them into the channel, to prevent them from perishing under the ice in the ponds this winter. As the fish are taken out of the ponds, they are infected with the clams before being thrown into the river.

A queer thing about the breeding buttons' game is, that clams have been found to be very finicky about the fish they choose as a host. Each kind of clam has his favorite species of fish and is very unwilling to be a parasite on any other. A queerer thing yet is, that the aristocratic yellow sand shell, most highly prized of all clams, because its shell is used in manufacturing pearl handles for table cutlery, chooses the most despised of fresh water fish, the gar, as his host.

SULPHUR IS BEST TO CLEAR UP UGLY, BROKEN OUT SKIN

Any breaking out or skin irritation on face, neck or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation that instantly brings ease from the itching, burning and irritation.

Mentho-Sulphur heals eczema right up, leaving the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the former or disfigurement. A little jar of Rowles' Mentho-Sulphur may be obtained at any drug store. It is used like cold cream.

The niggerhead clam, next valuable to the sand shell, has piebald taste also, for she prefers the lowly skip-jack to the bass or any other of the fine fish of the Mississippi.

YOUTHFUL SONG REVUE FEATURE OF RIVOLI VODVIL

Seven in Company Offering Tinkling Tunes and Unusual Dancing

George and Betty offer a fantasy of song and dance for the feature act at the Rivoli for today, Monday and Tuesday. It consists of seven youthful entertainers. It is a gorgeous offering in which there are many merry and tinkling tunes. Interspersed throughout the act are many wirthful situations and sensational dances. This act not only has class but is full of soap and moves along at great speed.

Other comedy features of the program are Ryan and Mack, who bill themselves as "Two Boys—Slightly Educated," and Robbins and Lorraine in a comedy singing and dancing number of merit. The novelty part of the program is supplied by "The Ditcher Bros." in an acrobatic novelty.

The bill is completed by a feature comedy, feature movie, a musical number by the Rivoli solo orchestra and the International News.

BEACH-JONES CO. REPEATS "STORM" BEGINNING SUNDAY

"The Storm," the greatest feature play ever offered by a stock company in La Crosse, will be repeated by the Beach-Jones company for three days commencing Sunday, matinee and night. So many were unable to obtain seats last week for this play, and so many have requested it be repeated that the management has decided to offer it again.

The Beach-Jones company will conclude its engagement here next week, offering "The Love Route," one of Billie Burke's biggest stage successes, for the last half of the week following "The Storm." This bill gives the entire cast a chance to show to their best advantage with Miss Sizer in the part created by Billie Burke. New vaudeville will be presented with each change of bill.

What Is Physical Fitness?

True physical fitness involves more than a passing attention to matters of diet, hygiene, environment and exercise. Important as are these factors, their benefit is neutralized unless the natural mechanism within the body works efficiently and without hindrance.

Conditions within the body—far more than those without—determine true physical fitness.

Osteopathy, with its application of the principles of adjusting structure, works always toward a true physical basis for bodily fitness.

The Osteopathic Physician strives to keep natural mechanism in working order by keeping it free from interference and derangement. The results that follow come as a result of natural law. Nature given opportunity rebuilds, repairs and restores.

The principles of Osteopathy go hand in hand with the fundamental laws of Nature.

FOUR BOYS HELD FOR BURGLARY OF COUNTRY SCHOOLS

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis.—Lloyd Young, Chester Long and Alvin Smith, Wisconsin Rapids youths, charged with the burglary of Wood county school houses, were committed to the county jail here Friday in default of bail of $500 each. Homer Jones, charged with receiving stolen goods, was sentenced to thirty days in jail in default of a $15 fine.

Postal inspectors are expected to make an immediate investigation into a number of mail robberies in this vicinity during the past few weeks. With the arrest of the four local boys, officials believe they have evidence as to the perpetrators of the robberies.

SWORE HE WAS POOR; PERJURY IS ALLEGED

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Henry Lange, Watertown, Wis., under arrest on a charge of perjury, will later enter a plea before Federal Judge H. A. Geiger, who has set his bail at $1,000. Lange is alleged to have perjured himself in taking the poor man's oath before Harry L. Kellogg, United States commissioner. He was convicted at Superior before the United States court for the western district of Wisconsin, of violating the Volstead act and was sentenced to serve six months in the Milwaukee county house of correction and fined $1,000. When his term expired he served an addition of thirty days in lieu of paying his fine, swore that he was not worth more than $20 and was released. The indictment charges that as a matter of fact he was worth more than $1,000.

CAMPION MASQUERS TO GIVE FAMOUS PLAY AT THEATRE

The cast that will stage "The Old Homestead," at the La Crosse Theatre, on Wednesday, Jan. 17, is bending every effort possible to work up the delightful play to the height of perfection and afford dramatic lovers a pleasing and enjoyable evening. The cast is the choice of the Masquers' society, in other words, the best dramatic ability in the college. The men seem talented as well as graceful in all their moves behind the glaring lights. Aside from this the able and skillful direction of Rev. Fr. Parry, S. J., dean of the college department, enables the cast to bring out all possible effects the play contains. From previous records of the various plays staged at Campion by the Masquers and their overwhelming success the evening promises to be an enjoyable one.

MET DARBY HICKS? HE'S SWORN ENEMY OF E. Z. SPOOFED

When Someone is Spreading Word Your Ancestors Were Bootleggers, Look for Darb

THE victim settles back in the bar chair.

"I was sorry to hear about your hard luck, Bill," says Walter Wagner, or maybe it might be Gust or George, as the napkin is sympathetically tucked around the customer's neck and the swabbing on of the latter starts to commence.

"Whoddyamean, hard luck?" inquires the victim, opening the eyes not completely filled with soap.

"Why about the cellar smellers raiding your home and finding you and your wife running a still," says Walt.

The victim sits upright, narrowly escaping a slit throat.

"Me and my wife running a still?" he explodes.

"Oh, that isn't anything to get excited about, but I was sure surprised to learn you had your kids out peddling the stuff," remarks Walt, kind of casual like.

Introducing Darby Hicks

The victim jumps from the chair with howls of rage.

"Say monkeyface, if you think you are being funny, let me tell you I don't see a joke."

"Be yourself, Bill," replies the bland Walt, "I ain't trying to pull any comedy. I'm just telling you what I was told."

"Who told you?" roared the victim.

"Darby Hicks," replied Walt.

"Who is Darby Hicks?" comes from beneath the steaming towel, the victim having been quieted to the extent he is induced to resume his place in the chair. "Who is this guy?"

"Who, don't you know Darby Hicks?" says Walt. "I thought everybody in town knew Darby Hicks. He was just in here and went to the cigar stand in the La Crosse hotel."

The victim hustles into his coat, takes it on the jump in fact. As he runs for the door, Walt gives him a parting shot. "He told me about your little girl knew more about selling gin than old man Gordon."

The door slams viciously.

The victim rushes into the hotel lobby and on arriving at the cigar stand is boiling mad.

"Where is this Darby Hicks?" he says between his teeth.

"Darby?" Oh, he just left here to get a shave over on Main street," says the cigar clerk. "Say, he was telling me about the stuff your wife makes. If you think of it, tell the wife to burn some of that stuff down this way, will you, Bill?"

With an enraged moan the victim starts for the shoe shining parlor.

Mr. Hicks has just left to get a

NOW IT IS JACK O' LANTERN TIME IN FLAPPERDOM—SAY, ORANGE ROUGE IS GOING SOME!

SHADES of Fair Wenonah, who used to walk down the trail now Main street, with her forehead painted indigo and her cheeks all splashed with ochre yellow.

La Crosse flappers who would rather be exotic than natural or gear natural, are painting their cheeks and chin in a smart orange this season. A new rouge compact made its appearance in Main street shops recently and is in demand at cosmetic counters.

It is orange—as orange as a sandwich at such and such a restaurant. But the shoe shining artist whispers in Bill's ear about what Darby had told him about the stuff he had his old grandmother making. And could he get some?

Darby Just Ahead of Bill

Bill looks for Darby Hicks far into the night. He had just left a dozen places just one leap ahead of sudden death. In each place the story about what Darby Hicks had said about him gets worse. The flames are fed with verbal gasoline. But some place along the line someone smiles and the victim, realizing that he is being "goofed," slinks away, madder than ever.

"Darby Hicks" is getting to be a byword in every barber shop, cigar store, drug store and lunch room in town. The things this Mister Hicks says about persons not "wise" to the practical jokes are scandalous. He has a wicked, merciless tongue.

Even with those familiar with the joke, every statement disbelieved is met with "Well, that's what Darby Hicks says, anyhow."

My Perennial Beauty

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I have the face and complexion of a girl of 13, so millions of women know. A youthful bloom which is the envy of countless debutantes.

Yet for 31 years I have been, as you know, a musical comedy star. Tens of thousands of women have asked me to tell them how I kept this girlish beauty. Now I am doing that, as a duty to woman-kind. And I have arranged to supply, to women who wish, the identical helps that I use.

White Super-clay

They now supply me a white, clean, dainty clay. It is fragrant and inviting. And they embody in it factors which no natural clay contains.

The use is delightful. The results are many times better than crude clays ever brought.

This clay will be a revelation to you, whatever clay you've used. It brings at once a new complexion, rosy, clear and firm. It draws out all that mars the skin—blackheads, pimples, dirt. It gives a baby texture, and it firms the skin. Nothing ever did so much to combat the cause of wrinkles.

I want all girls and women to see what this clay will do. Go get it. If you use clay now, this will give you manifold results. If you don't use clay, you will learn the need. My Beauty Book comes with the tube.

Edna Wallace Hopper's White Youth Clay

First—Youth Clay

My supreme help is a facial clay. Not the crude and muddy complexion clays so many use today. Mine is a white, refined clay, perfected by scientists who have spent 20 years in the study of facial clays.

French beauty experts, many years ago, taught me what clays could do. Then few women used them, and those women became the marvels of whole nations for their wonderful complexions.

Now countless women use them. Rosy, clear complexions are seen everywhere today. Most women know that clay applications are essential to beauty at its best. A woman who omits them does herself injustice.

Now refined clay

But ordinary facial clay gives you no conception of what clay can do.

CANTATA WILL BE GIVEN SUNDAY AT LOCAL CHURCH

A cantata "The Holy Infant," by Frederick Field Bullard will be given at Our Savior's Lutheran church tonight at 8 p. m. Mr. Bullard has in this cantata shown a true understanding of what is wanted of the public, the heavy, more classic solos being relieved by the light snappy choruses. It is splendid work which alone would have won the composer his well earned popularity, and is given by the well known choir The Trinity and Our Savior's Lutheran united. All music lovers should be given an enjoyable evening. The soloists are: Soprano, Mrs. Stokke; alto, Mrs. E. O. Forseth; tenor, Mr. Otto Zielke; basso, Mr. Oscar Hoff; organist, Miss Hulberg; baritone and director, M. O. Forseth.

The majority of American tourists travel from Paris to London by airplane.

NOTED COUPLE TO HEAD RIVIERA'S SUNDAY PROGRAM

Mack and Mabelle Put on Comedy Classic Called "The Record Shop"

Mack and Mabelle, two of vaudeville's cleverest young people, will offer a comedy classic called "The Record Shop," at the Riviera Sunday. It will give them leeway to display their remarkable personalities and attainments in all lines of stage endeavor. Mabelle is a charming girl, who held stellar roles in Broadway productions before entering vaudeville. Mack is the comedian of the duo.

Billy Dougal and Teddy Leary are a pair of jovial young chaps, unusually talented as entertainers who appear in an offering they present under the caption of "A Joyful Combination of Songs, Music and Smiles."

With a table full considerably higher than that attempted by other performers, Wicks and Sidel, known as "Killed Comics," will create a thrill with their performance. Originalities will enter largely into this act, it is said. The pair of tumbler will be noted also as comedians, for they have been capitalizing their natural gifts for establishing laughter.

Trotzky was 13 years old when first arrested in Russia.

NEW BANKER HERE

H. R. FOX

Meet Mr. H. R. Fox, cashier of the National Bank of La Crosse. Mr. Fox came to La Crosse from Marquette, Michigan, several months ago to become identified with the National Bank of La Crosse, and after devoting all the intervening time to a study of the systems employed by the bank, assumed the duties of cashier last Wednesday morning, following the annual election of officers Tuesday.

Mr. Fox has had a varied experience in the banking business during the 26 years he has been identified with financial institutions. He was with the Commercial National Bank of Chicago 11 years and with the Marquette National Bank of Marquette Mich., 15 years.

He is a veteran of the Spanish war, serving with the First Illinois regiment in that memorable conflict and seeing much active service at Santiago. When United States entered the world war he joined the first of officers' training camp at Plattsburg but was incapacitated by an injury to his knee. However, as an executive of the Marquette bank and director of several war drives he found innumerable war duties to look after at home, with his time fully occupied.

Coming to La Crosse highly recommended as a banker of wide experience and a good businessman, Mr. Fox has already made many friends here. He has a pleasing personality, makes friends easily, and appears well equipped in every way, to take his place among the prominent businessmen of the city.

A Tribute to Chiropractic

HISTORY tells us that Benjamin Franklin, Robert Fulton and most of the other great men who advanced ahead of the crowd were made the laughing stock of the community in which they lived.

Marconi was jailed for daring to announce that he could communicate between two points, far removed from each other, without the use of wires.

In the field of physical healing, as in that of mechanical invention, we have scoffed at every discovery that science has announced.

When I first heard of Chiropractic I laughed at it. It didn't seem possible to antidote disease by adjusting the spine, without the use of drugs and without pain, which only goes to prove that the human mind is inclined to doubt that which it does not fully understand.

I now believe in Chiropractic.

Because—it is accomplishing a great deal of good in the world and is doing no harm.

Because—it is rapidly educating people to understand that most diseases can be dethroned without the use of habit-forming drugs.

Because—it always co-operates with nature and never opposes or interferes with nature's method of throwing off disease.

Because—it is a preventive which, if regularly applied, helps nature hold disease germs in check and keeps the body in fine physical shape.

Lastly, because five years ago I investigated Chiropractic for the purpose of scoffing at it, and when I learned what it was and what it was accomplishing I remained at its shrine to pray.

LOCAL LUTHERAN CHURCH HAS A FINE YEAR REPORT SHOWS

Over Thousand Dollars Expended for Benevolences During the Past Year

The reports from the various departments of St. Paul's Lutheran church for the year 1922, show one of the most successful years in the history of the congregation.

The treasurers report discloses the fact that in spite of the hard times and economic difficulties, the finances of the congregation are in better condition than ever. Over a thousand dollars was used for benevolences by the various societies. The Ladies' Aid society has taken in over $1,000 throughout the year.

An improvement of practical importance is the installation of a steam table in the kitchen.

The Sunday school is at the present time equipped to take care of over 200 children. The present enrollment is 190 with new scholars coming nearly every week.

Fifty-six new members have been added to the congregation during the year.

There is at the present time no debt against the church property. There is a small loan which will be paid off in the very near future.

At the meeting on Tuesday evening it was decided to conduct English services every Sunday morning at 10:30 instead of alternately, as heretofore. At the conclusion of the morning services opportunity will be given those who prefer Norwegian, to have a full service in that language. This plan will be tried out for some time, and final action taken at a later date. An evangelistic meeting will be held sometime during the season of Lent.

FARMER AT WAUSAU STARTING OWN ZOO

WAUSAU, Wis.—G. F. Ventzka, who is installing a zoo in town of Wausau, a mile north of Wausau, has added a pair of European swans to his collection. He expects to acquire a pair of buffalo next week. In addition he has a pair of elk, a pair of geese, a bear and several smaller animals.

Reports report that the demand for swans is greater than the present supply.

GREEN BAY PEEPER HAS CITY ALARMED

GREEN BAY, Wis.—Windows and doors are being bolted, shades are drawn, girls are seeking rooms on upper floors only, and families are staying home the first of the long winter night on the West Side of Green Bay as a result of the activities of Green Bay's "Peepers."

The "Peepers" seem to be a degenerate who plays his depredations with no fear of capture, only in a certain block or two on the West Side, on one instance he was nearly captured only to escape with a retort of "Ha, Ha, wise guy, thought you would get me." A local dentist who gave chase was arrested as a robber suspect.

At another instance a father returning home late at night, saw the man standing on a sidewalk, fumbling with a lock on his daughter's window. He had removed the storm window in his preparation to enter the room. However, as in all cases, "Peepers" escaped.

"What's the big idea of having a picture of your stenographer on your stationery?"

"To counteract the effect of her spelling and punctuation."

CLAIM DOG LAW HAS SERVED WELL

MADISON, Wis.—Worthless and harmless dogs in Wisconsin have had their numbers decreased markedly during the past two years due to operation of the state dog and stock law, the state department of agriculture said Saturday in its biennial report. All dogs are now licensed, and stock caused by ravages of dogs have been provided for through operation of the law.

C. P. Norwood, commissioner of agriculture, reported that few complaints have been made against the dog law since its amendment lowering the fee charged, and changing the time for payment. Some united opposition to the statute, however, is expected to again bring the question of its repeal before the legislature.

MILLIONS IN IMPORTS

"WOMAN CONQUERS"

The male patrons of the Rivoli theatre may eagerly await the presentation of "The Woman Conquers," the Associated First National attraction in which Katherine MacDonald is starred, at the Rivoli today, because the announcement, made by Antoinette Donnelly, the famous beauty expert of the Chicago Tribune and the New York News, that Miss MacDonald is "the most beautiful woman in the world," has aroused a new interest in this famous screen star.

Miss Donnelly only made this all important and sweeping declaration after having searched every large city in the United States for the typical representative American beauty.

And it is worthy of note that when the beauty expert first saw Miss MacDonald it was when she was depicted in the form of the heroine of "The Woman Conquers," a story with scenes in the snow country of the great northwest and New York City.

"THE AGENT"

Coming to the Rivoli today, Monday and Tuesday there is a distinct novelty in the way of screen entertainment. The picture is "The Agent," a Larry Semon comedy, which is some distance ahead of the conventional among laugh provokers. The story is built around the activities of a band of rum manufacturers along the Mexican border. Enjoying a prosperous business, they have at length established themselves as almost a separate principality, intoxicated with the success of their illicit business. The central distributing point and rendezvous of the band is a magnificent cafe, where joy is unconfined, night and day.

"SKIN DEEP"

Contrasting the wholesome love of a charming girl with the double-dealing and cold-blooded betrayal of a selfish woman of the underworld, Thomas H. Ince's special production, "Skin Deep," comes for a run of four days at the Rivoli theatre.

Although it is a melodrama packed full of thrills and tense situations, the artistry of its presentation saves "Skin Deep" from anything smack-ing of cheap sensationalism.

The story hangs on the unusual plot of a complete change in the identity of the principal character, a ringleader in a gang of clever crooks in a large city. The transformation is effected by plastic surgery following the injury of the crook in an airplane accident while he is trying to escape from prison.

His wife and another gangster had "railroaded" him into prison. The big kick in the picture comes when he returns to his old haunts with his new identity and sits with his wife and her new husband and hears them planning to double-cross him without their suspecting who he is.

ORGANIZE DRY LEAGUE

MADISON, Wis.—The Citizens' Educational League of Wisconsin, a subsidiary of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league, was organized here Friday, with Morlin Hull, Black River Falls, as president. Mr. Hull is former secretary of the state for Wisconsin, and is the editor of two farm papers. Launcelot A. Gordon, assistant secretary of state, was chosen vice president; E. D. Coddington, North Milwaukee, second vice president; Mrs. O. W. Neale, Stevens Point, secretary, and Mrs. Jacob Georlings, Milwaukee, field secretary. P. L. Trondale, Eau Claire, was named treasurer.

The above officers together with the following constitute the executive committee of the league: Rev. M. H. Hegge, Stoughton; T. J. Fleming, Milwaukee; William Ager, Eau Claire; Rev. G. F. Klekhofer, Milwaukee; Rev. H. C. Logan, Milwaukee, and C. C. Gittings, Racine.

This new organization is to be the educational department of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league.

LEGISLATURE APPROVES U. W. PROM IN CAPITOL

MADISON, Wis.—The Junior prom, biggest dance of the University of Wisconsin social year, will be held in the state capitol on Feb. 2.

The assembly on Thursday, just before going into joint session with the senate to hear Gov. Blaine read his message, ratified the joint resolution giving permission, which the senate adopted Wednesday night. Assemblyman W. A. Freehoff, Waukesha, attempted to have the resolution tabled and a committee appointed to "investigate" the prom, but his motion was defeated.

FATTY STARTS WORK ON SLAP-STICK FILM

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—Clad in his famous little brown derby and his great balloon-like pants, Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, has gone to work at the Buster Keaton movie studio for the first time since September, 1921, when he was arrested in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe at San Francisco.

"Handy Andy," it was learned, will be the name of Fatty's first new production.

"Handy Andy" will be a slapstick two-reeler of the sort in which Fatty gained fame.

SOCIETY wearied her—the Arctic exulted her. She brought Fifth Avenue culture with her—but went on without it! For there in the North, woman meet man on man's equation, and the primal factor is might. The man she sought was a killer, and his code, unbent for no woman. She told him to leave the country. The fight is on—but the woman conquers. How, you ask? That's what gives it so much drama.

Friday and Saturday—Destiny's "Isle" comedy; "My Hero"; Fox News No. 23.

REAL VIRILE CLEAN
IS NEW MIX PLAY

For real virile, clean photodrama we refer those in which Tom Mix appears and it requires no great stretch of imagination to divine why the censor's scissors have never had the occasion to eliminate any scene from a Tom Mix photoplay.

One of the many punches of "Catch My Smoke" is the one where a chase takes place between a racing railroad train and Mix riding his famous horse Tony, which ends with the horse and its famous rider leaping from car to car. The excellent acting, the comedy touches and the flawless photography materially assist towards making this photoplay one of the finest that has ever been shown in this city. Mix appears at the Strand today, matinee and night.

CASINO SUNDAY
What harm newspaper publicity, notoriety and fame can do a person in public life when the breath of scandal turns against them is the central theme of "The World's Applause," a new William de Mille production for Paramount, featuring Bebe Daniels and Lewis Stone, which will be seen at the Casino theatre today.

Colorful, exotic Bebe Daniels has the role of Corinne d'Alys, a successful artist of the stage whose high place has been largely due to her insatiable search for publicity. Lewis Stone is seen as "John Elliott." The picture is dramatic and thrilling while the supporting cast is excellent.

RIVIERA TODAY
Making "A Daughter of Luxury" different from any other picture ever made is the unique role played by Agnes Ayres, the star in this splendid Paramount production, which is at the Riviera theatre today only.

In this story Mary Panton has been trained to do nothing except to be sweet and good and wear expensive garments. In short, she is a daughter of luxury. Mary's parents die, and her inheritance proves to be nil. Mary is forced to live in a hall bedroom in a cheap lodging house. She is down to her last nickel and she owes her landlady room rent. The landlady forces Mary out and she walks the streets hungry and vainly seeking work. She is almost ready to faint from hunger and fatigue when she accidentally meets Charlie Owen, a stranger, whom she mistakes for an acquaintance. He gets her into much trouble. There comes on the scene later a nice young man, but it is Mary herself who pulls her reputation out of the fire. Miss Ayres has an admirable supporting cast, which includes Edward Martin, Tom Gallery, Sylvia Ashton, ZaSu Pitts, Robert Schable and Clarence Burton.

MARKED ENTHUSIASM OVER "TESS OF THE STORM COUNTRY"

Mary Pickford in her own and a new version of "Tess of the Storm Country," a United Artists release, will be the attraction at the Riviera theatre beginning Monday and continuing for six days. It is perhaps the combination of a favorite star in a favorite play which makes this screen event so notable, but it is also certain the fact that Miss Pickford has greatly elaborated on her triumphant histrionic efforts of eight years ago has had a marked effect in intensifying the public interest.

It is said Miss Pickford reaches the zenith of her dramatic powers in her interpretation of the character of this sympathy-winning and admirable heroine and many authorities proclaim it truly marvellous as an example of her incomparable ability to make people laugh one minute and cry the next.

She is surrounded by a supporting cast of exceptional brilliance. Lloyd Hughes in the leading male role, and Gloria Hope as Teola Graves are especially good.

MITZI IS COMING IN "LADY BILLY"

A musical comedy of pronounced success in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago is "Lady Billy" by Zelda Sears and Harold Levey, in which Henry W. Savage will offer America's most beguiling comedienne, Mitzi, at the La Crosse theatre Monday, Jan. 20.

This company is carrying the regular Savoy singing chorus and opera orchestra. A metropolitan cast and scenic production enhance Mitzi in a romantic musical story which gives her ample opportunity to display her varied talents. "Lady Billy" comes to this city with the guaranteed stamp of approval of other cities.

SCARCITY OF WATER A SOURCE OF WORRY TO OLD CALEDONIA

County Seat Hewn Out of Wilderness by Settlers Who Braved Indians

COUNTRY AT FIRST THOUGHT TO BE UNSAFE FOR WOMEN

Flour Costs $10 100 Pounds;
Wheat Sold for 20c a Bushel

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Those residents of this or other towns who are inclined to grumble when water-pipes freeze, furnaces go on a strike or some other modern improvement of their homes go wrong, would do well to ask some "old timer" about the days when Caledonia was hewn out of the wilderness by which it was surrounded in early days, or read some account of the early history of the place as given in some of the newspapers of that day.

From one of the latter sources, it is found that one of the early residents, a Mr. Stewart, who located on a farm a little south of Caledonia, needed a house badly, therefore all his neighbors turned out and put up a log cabin 14x24 feet, finishing it on a Sunday night. As the weather was uncertain work was kept up on it all the week. The Stewarts thought the house a fine one, though a bit crowded when fifteen people at one time lived in the place for three months, but as there were plenty of chunks in the walls for ventilation, no ill effects were felt because of impure air.

Catch Snow for Drinking Water.

The greatest trouble was the lack of water, as there was no well dug, nor even a cistern, and no stream near from which to get it. When the Stewarts began housekeeping in the log house, they had but a two gallon jugful of water. A neighbor, by the name of McPhail, lent them the jug and gave them the water from his well, that being the nearest to the Stewarts' farm. On October 25th of that year, a snowstorm came on which Mrs. Stewart was all alone with no one to send for water; she having but one pint of the precious fluid in the house and expecting friends to visit her, got out all the sheets the house afforded and spreading them out in the yard, caught enough snow to bridge her over the difficulty. Other settlers who came about this time to make their homes in the locality were J. W. Mann, who located southeast of Swartout; Jacob Webster, wife and two children; Dan Herring and family; Hiram Abbey and family, Mrs. Abbey being a daughter of a Mr. Armstrong; James Wing, who married Miss Gilette after coming here; Henry Parmelee, who married another of Mr. Armstrong's daughters, Miss Margaret, their wedding being one of the first in the town; Joseph Burns, who came here a bachelor, believing—as did many others at first—that the country was too wild to bring a woman into and unsafe because of the Indians.

First Death in 1854

The first death here was that of Mrs. Sarah M. Pomeroy, who died May 24th, 1854. The McPhails' daughter, named after the state, was in all likelihood, the first child born here. Late in the fall of 1853 the whole community gathered to enjoy a candy-pull, the crowd numbering 28 people. During the first year, there were also several parties at James Hiner's hotel, a log structure that was voted very near a palace. The first log cabin laid up in the real "hill-lage" was on a lot situated a bit north of where now the Methodist church stands. The first store actually filled with merchandise was that owned by A. D. Sprague. Mr. McPhail was instrumental in having the village platted in the spring of 1854. Eugene Marshall, cashier of the only bank here, making the survey and doing the other work connected with it.

The first term of school was taught by Reuben Rollins in the winter of 1854 and the first remembered preacher was a Baptist minister who preached in an unfinished log cabin belonging to James R. Beiden. The Indians were plentiful here and kept up quite a lively trade with the white folks, the Winnebagoes being the most friendly. Among these were Chief Porter, also Chief Lightfoot and his son, Little Priest. Early settlers had very little trouble with the redmen.

Flour at $10 a hundred

In 1854, a grist-mill was established at Canoe Creek, Iowa, this being the nearest place to Caledonia where any grinding could be done and it is told that after reaching the mill, flour often cost as much as $10 a hundred pounds. To show some of the other hardships under the first settlers worked, the instance is recalled of how Mr. McPhail needed some minor repairs done to a plow and to obtain services of a blacksmith, was forced to go to Prairie du Chien, paying $5 steamboat fare and a $2 hotel bill to get 60c worth of work done on the plow. Perhaps he figured that the chance to get out and see the world amply repaid him, as he did not "kick" on the expense. In 1854, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Metcalf (nee Sarah M. Stewart, daughter of Edwin H. Stewart) became members of the community, the year before Henry Burnett and Hugh Brown coming out but returning soon afterwards. As the country settled up west of Houston county, the road through Caledonia became a much-traveled "to-do" through each day and affording great delight to the villagers, as many old friends were met and new ones made and no doubt many a romance had its start here. If any farmer wished to sell his wheat, it was necessary to haul it to Albert Lea or Winona and the consequent expense often ate up the price of the whole load. One farmer having a load hauled to Winona for forty cents a bushel and having it sold there for forty-five, thereby making the splendid sum of five cents a bushel. The soil, being new, often raised 31 bushels of wheat to the acre and one man raised 500 bushels on sixteen acres and sold it for 20c a bushel in the stack. The first threshing-machine used was a one-man power machine and was made of two pieces of wood, connected with a piece of leather and was called a flail.

Fearful Indians at First

These settlers who came first were in great trepidation as to the designs of the Indians and any undue noises created great alarm. Sometimes when a stranger traveler was lost, on the trail and shouted for help, his voice was believed to be echoes of a war-hoop and many times no one would venture out. The question of procuring water for the homes was one that caused great trouble as the firstcomers supposed it could be found at the same reasonable depth as at their old homes but ordinary digging brought no results and cisterns and artificial ponds were then made the rule. One of the newcomers once borrowed Wm. F. Dunbar's yoke of oxen to haul water from the nearest creek just at sunset but on the return trip the men became lost and Dunbar started out in their rescue. After venturing as far as he dared in the darkness, he at last by dint of great shouting succeeded in making the other men hear but it was at a late hour when they returned with the barrel of water.

When in the fall of 1854, numerous people from the New England states came out to the new village, they were at once assisted in making comfortable quarters for the winter but it was not until about two years later that any foreigners put in an appearance and they were also made welcome. Several of Irish nationality first appeared, followed by several Norwegian families and also Germans.

Land Marketed in 1854

Not until 1854 was the land in the market for sale, the first sale of the kind being held at Brownsville. All the settlers were at that time "squatters" and realizing their rights exceeded those who came later, a mutual protective association was formed and a manager appointed to look after all interests of members. The duty of this manager was to attend all land sales and when any section or fraction thereof was put on sale, to then announce that "the property was occupied and approved by so-and-so who will in due time file his claim and attend to payment for same."

BILL WOULD REDUCE PULP WOOD LENGTH TO CONSERVE WOOD

MADISON, Wis.—Conservation of wood resources in northern Wisconsin will be provided for if a bill to be introduced by Assemblyman D. J. Summerville of Ladysmith is enacted as a law at this session of the legislature. "The bill is aimed to enforce use of pulpwood, cut in Wisconsin, to change the present customary specification of four and eight foot lengths to include two foot also, thereby minimizing the waste of tops," said Mr. Summerville. "The bill would also compel the manufacture of pulp and similar grades of paper to use not less than 15 percent of popular, balsam, and pine in the ground wood pulp."

SEATS SELLING IN GREAT NUMBERS FOR LEGION FIGHT CARD

Results of Advance Sale Shows Many Have Already Procured Pasteboards

FANS PREDICT GREAT FIGHT BETWEEN GILL AND MAC DONALD

Jimmy's Followers Have World of Confidence in Local Man

PREPARATIONS are well under way for the next American Legion boxing show carded for the Yessen hall Friday evening, January 26, according to officials in charge of the local boxing club.

Many Seats Sold Since the advance sale started about a week ago, officials have cause for lots of encouragement, it being announced that at the present time nearly as many pasteboards have been sold to date as were sold at the door on the night of the last card here. While previous shows have not been much of a success from the standpoint of finance, officials have every reason to believe with a marked increase in sales that boxing has come to take a regular berth among other sports in La Crosse.

Buddy MacDonald, St. Paul welter, "the boy with the educated fist," as he has been called, will share the ring with La Crosse's chief glove wallop, Jimmy Gill, in the main event of the card. Local fans who have seen him under fire corroborate all that has been said for Buddy in the way of being a clever man with his dukes and predict the season's classic of fist encounters will be over and done when the gong sends MacDonald and Gill to their dressing rooms.

Buddy Great Fighter Perhaps nothing more could be said that would bring to the attention of fans the caliber of MacDonald is the fact that the St. Paul mauler has lost but three fights in forty-eight, and these only by newspaper decisions. However, to see it in black and white doesn't mean much to Jimmy's followers in La Crosse who are determined that in the La Crosse speed boy has sufficient punch to bring the main event decision to the local man.

Four preliminary fights are carded, all of which are expected to prove entertaining to La Crosse boxingdom.

SPLITS and BLOWS

IT is readily apparent to the casual frequenter of the Arcade bowling alleys that the haunts of La Crosse knights of the Royal Order of Pin Laubachters is no longer a rendezvous for men only. Women are taking an active interest in the game and like to drop around and observe just how hubby does it and incidentally "tune in" on the continual line of entertaining chatter that fairly drowns the clashing of wood on wood.

AND not alone in the gallery are the women to be found on these evenings. For they, too, must needs pause awhile to "play over" the games in the lobby and "chin" amongst themselves over a scoop of root beer in parting.

THE "howlers extraordinary," better known as the "Pick-ups" and the official Tribune bowling team are going to come to "blows" at the Arcade alleys. The time set for the fray is tomorrow afternoon as soon as the paper has been put to sleep. Great enmity has been brewing between the factions until the lesser lights recently burst forth with a challenge.

DICTATING the terms of the match, the "extraordinaries" first put in for a pay-for-your-own-bowling series, doubtless doing so after a breakfast on grape-nuts. But in the wake of a great storm of protest from the regulars and believing in the doctrine of "peace at any price," the boys capitulated and amended the challenge to the regulation loser pay match.

THE challenge hung on the composing room bulletin board for a long time, seemingly unnoticed for days. It had not been accepted. It came finally in form of patched together corners torn from ten dollar bills: John Puchs ..... XXXXX-XXXXXX Adrian Puchs ..... XXXXX-XXXXXX Gus Beck ..... 11111/XXXXX Edward Bey ..... XXX-XXX-XXX Peter Wais ..... XXXXX/XXXXX

And He Got 'Em "How many do we need?" "Three," said George Kohn's voice above the masses, as usual, as he stepped up for the final frame in a game in which the Puchs' rolled out the Tribune by two wickets. He was immediately drowned in a volley of clattering and varied articulation. "Blow this time! Fire on three! Lost ball!" etc. etc. Whereby Rich Newburg put forth: "Better out that out boys, that gives him all the more encouragement." "He'd be a tough one for J. B. with a brass band behind him."

They Sound Big THE Rabbits very solemn win over one game in an evening but if racket counted for anything the species would no doubt be perched right underneath the headlines, "How They Stand."

Supreme Here SUPREMACY in the cellar division of the Rubber Mills league is being dictated by the Dictators, 0 12 600.

It's No Wonder JIMMY BLOUNT evidently doesn't get very tired on the drives. He only rolls one ball.

Give Them Time "THE women are certainly coming right along," observed Rich Newburg during the women's session the other day. "Yes," agreed Peter Wais, "they can't learn it all in one day." "Hubb, I've been at it fifteen years and haven't learned yet," concluded Rich.

INCIDENTALLY, we would rather agree that the pin setters are having a tougher time right along when the women are in action. Any one would have bet that Mrs. Silloway's 201 would have won the Kitching prize for the week. Not so, Mrs. Schneberger lambasted the pins for 204 a few days later.

Blames The Company CHARLEY HAZOR claims that a 214 score is a mere incident to him in practice games, but phenomenal in league bowling. He lays it to the company he is in. Charley, incidentally, bowls with the "prohibitionists" in the commercial league.

MISSING the head pin is one of the gravest obstacles necessary for a good bowler to overcome, believes Neumann of the Tag Harts. Neumann complains of a peculiar reverse his balls take in the face of a direct hit.

KIDDING each other with four bus on the side crew into a match game between Gus Beck of the Tribune, and "Farmer Joe" Beranek of the Commercial league standard bearers. The Hippmobile had one "blow" out and turned turtle on the home stretch and the Tribune carried a report of six pins to the good. "Pretty lucky," avowed the "Farmer."

EUMER WARNING insists that no mention be made of Art Bruha's 200 score in the Tribune last week, adding that it must have been overlooked. But then, 200 is a small score for Art.

Lots of Fun In Store For Skaters In "Event Day" At Pettibone Rink This Aft

THE La Crosse Outdoor Sports association is promising a lively time for skaters at Pettibone lagoon Sunday afternoon when the first "Event Day" of the winter will be held.

And not only will the skating events proper, occupy the time this afternoon. The hockey fence which has been in store on the north side has been removed to the lagoon and installed. Before workmen completed setting up the fence Saturday morning, a dozen or more skaters equipped with "ice golf clubs" made use of the rink.

Flood Hockey Rink

Saturday afternoon the hockey rink was flooded to prepare it for the games on Sunday. With the continued mild climate, there was some speculation whether the enclosure would be in condition or not, however it was thought that the colder night air would seal up the liquid. The main rink was not flooded Saturday due to the warm weather.

Skaters at the lagoon this afternoon are requested to wear their buttons to denote membership in the association, and not assume the attitude of one patron of Pettibone rink who said when approached to buy a button: "Oh well, what do I need a button for?" The Outdoor Sports are running this. "Running" is the word—right into the hole if every one took that attitude of mind. The association will improve conditions by increasing the size of the house, provide more and better lighting, and offer more prizes in races, in direct proportion to the support of those who make use of the rink. Wear a button and don't let anyone mistake you for the clever gentleman referred to above.

Races Start at 2:30

Races this afternoon will start promptly at 2:30. They will be in charge of Mr. Wittich, president, and Mr. Reuter, member of the board of the association. As the whistle blows and races are called, report to either of these men in the center of the main "tent" for final instructions. Buttons ought to be worn by all contestants.

The cross-country ski race will be staged on the outer rim of the lagoon, in plain sight of all spectators. It is hoped that all will abandon the rink and take to the shore during the races to provide opportunity for a fair chance to all contestants.

Visit the lagoon today and wear your button.

A Nation's Tribute to Buick

There is an inspiring tribute to an industry in the universal recognition annually accorded the National Automobile Shows.

Thousands come to these exhibitions from every section of the continent and from foreign lands as well, and their advent is widely heralded the world over.

In the twenty-third National Automobile Show, just opening in New York, and later in Chicago, the nation is provided with a display of its chief means of personal transportation. This display is so complete and so magnificently set forth that all who come may easily carry away a perfect picture of the latest accomplishments in motor car building.

Year after year the national shows receive the homage of the entire country. Year after year they mark by their own increased magnitude and splendor, the increased growth of the automobile industry.

In occupying first place at both national shows for the fifth consecutive year, Buick continues the position in the industry awarded it by universal public opinion.

GUIDES IN CAPITOL TAKE INTEREST IN SHOWING BUILDING

Both Civil War Veterans and Both Well Versed in History of State and Capitol

MADISON, Wis.—If there are two people who really appreciate the beauty of Wisconsin's capitol they are S. E. Lathrop and A. H. Cook, capitol guides.

Perhaps there is no one who knows the building better than these two, for seven times a day they take visitors on trips thru the capitol and not only point out the spots of interest, but try and make their visitors see the building as they do. No host was ever more concerned over the success of a dinner than the guides are over a trip. Some people might think that such a job would be tiresome, but the interest of the guides in their job keeps it always new.

Last year, the guides took over 100,000 people through the building and every trip was different. Celebrations are nothing new to the guides, for they have had men and women of nation wide fame, for their guests. Men from every land and country come to see the building. Looking through the pages of the guest book, which everyone signs, is like reading the register of a New York hotel. Last week there was a man from New Zealand, another from Cape Hope and a rabbi from Palestine. In the same day, a man from Alaska and one from South Africa went through the Capitol.

A professor from the University of Japan, the Chinese Educational bureau, and members of the Scandinavian Editors' association all were guests within a month of each other. A party of Indian chiefs on their way to Washington stopped over, and the high school editors went through in a body.

Teachers bring classes and even the entire student body to see the building. The largest single group was one of 700. The summer months are the busiest for the guides, for all the tourists that come to Madison have heard of the capitol building, and want to see it for themselves.

Another large class of people are the newlyweds. When the party has a bride and groom in it the guides know that it will not be a dull trip. Mr. Lathrop says that it is a waste of time for most of these people to go on the trip, for they never even see the building, much less hear what he has to say, so engrossed are they in each other.

MORE PATIENTS FOR ASYLUM

NEILLSVILLE, Wis.—There are now 151 patients at the Clark county asylum. Fifty-two more will be transferred from Chippewa Falls and two from Mendota, making a total of 205. The asylum can accommodate 275 patients.

GIRL RESERVE ACTIVITIES

The Girls' work committee of the Y. W. C. A. will conduct a sale of home-baked articles at the association rooms on Saturday, Jan. 20, the sale opening at noon. Funds raised by this sale will be used to defray expenses of Girl Reserve delegates to the mid-winter conference of high school clubs at Milwaukee February 9, 10 and 11.

Senior and Freshman Girl Reserve clubs of the high school are also actively engaged in preparations for the conference, hoping to be able to send a delegation of at least nine from these two clubs. Logan Junior high school clubs are also expected to send the same number.

Senior girls are sending out small aprons to members and friends, accompanied by an appeal in verse, asking contributions equal to double the dimensions of the donor's waistline. The appeal, written by Elsie Harrison, is as follows:

When you receive this apron
I'm sure you're going to frown.
You do not know its origin
Although it came from seven.
Now if you'll take a tape line
And measure round your waist,
I am sure you'll find you're slender

And the frowns will be erased.
And if your waistline's thirty-two,
Just double it, you see.
And send the amount in pennies
To the Y. W. C. A.
And this will help to send
For a glorious week-end
Nine Girl Reserves who really deserve
A trip to Milwaukee.

The senior group also has plans under way for a sale of home-made candy to be held on the balcony of the Doerflinger store, Saturday, January 27th.

A coasting party in Copeland park Wednesday afternoon proved a joyous occasion for Girl Reserves of the Logan school. The affair was in honor of new members of the corps. Accompanying the girls were Misses Helen Webber and Gladys Johnson, advisers.

Sleighride parties were enjoyed by two groups of Girl Reserves during the week. Washington corps rode to Onalaska Saturday afternoon, special guests of the club including the advisers, Misses Clara Ballhorn and Helen Uhl; Mrs. Charles S. Cone, secretary of the association, and Miss Leona J. Reinhard, Girl Reserve director.

On Friday the Freshman club of the high school went to West Salem for a sleighride party, starting in the late afternoon, partaking of supper in West Salem, and returning in the early evening. Accompanying the club were Misses Freeman and Bjerklen, assisting Phy Eds.

At the regular meeting of Senior High School Girl Reserves at the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday afternoon Leona Stannard entertained with a piano solo, and a dance was given by Muriel Schneeberger. Dorothy Kriese was the accompanist.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea
and Sulphur

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.
